

LI : Identify features of the TIIC + SEE structures in explanation writing.

Highlight the features the corresponding colours in the key below :

Title	Introduction	Information Paragraphs	Conclusion
Statement	Explanation	Example	Linking Words

What Makes a Good Leader?

A good leader is someone who guides, supports, and inspires others to achieve a common goal. Leadership is important in many areas of life, including school, sports, and work. But what exactly makes a great leader? Good leaders have strong communication skills, responsibility, and the ability to make fair decisions.

Communication Skills

A good leader must have strong communication skills. Clear communication allows a leader to share their ideas and listen to others. Leaders need to speak confidently, give instructions clearly, and encourage teamwork. They must also be good listeners, understanding the needs and concerns of their team. For example, a sports captain must explain strategies to their teammates while also listening to feedback to improve team performance.

Responsibility

Responsibility is another key quality of a good leader. A responsible leader takes ownership of their actions and ensures they make choices that benefit everyone. They remain honest, reliable, and accountable, even when things go wrong. A school prefect, for instance, is expected to set a good example for younger students by following school rules and helping others when needed.

Ability to Make Fair Decisions

Good leaders also make fair and thoughtful decisions. They consider different perspectives, think critically, and choose the best solution for their team or group. Instead of making decisions based only on personal preferences, they focus on what is fair and just. For example, a group project leader should listen to everyone's ideas before assigning tasks to ensure that work is divided evenly.

In conclusion, great leaders communicate effectively, take responsibility, and make fair decisions. These qualities help them guide and support others successfully. Whether in school, sports, or the workplace, good leadership is essential for success. Anyone can become a great leader by developing these skills and using them to make a positive impact.

Title	Introduction	Information Paragraphs	Conclusion
--------------	---------------------	-------------------------------	-------------------

Statement	Explanation	Example	Linking Words
------------------	--------------------	----------------	----------------------

Why Is Pizza the Best Food Ever?

Pizza is one of the most loved foods in the world. Whether it's a simple cheese pizza or a fully loaded meat-lovers' special, pizza is a go-to meal for people of all ages. But what makes pizza so amazing? The combination of delicious flavours, endless topping possibilities, and its ability to bring people together make it the best food ever.

Flavour Combinations

One reason pizza is so great is because of its perfect flavour combination. The crispy crust, rich tomato sauce, gooey melted cheese, and various toppings all blend together to create an explosion of taste in every bite. The contrast between the crunchy base and the soft, cheesy top makes pizza a unique and satisfying meal. Whether you prefer a classic Margherita or a spicy pepperoni pizza, there's a flavour for everyone.

Toppings

Another reason why pizza is the best is its endless topping possibilities. You can customise it with anything you like—vegetables, meats, or even pineapple (if you're into that debate). Unlike other foods that are limited in variety, pizza is completely adaptable to different tastes. If you're feeling adventurous, you can even try unusual toppings like honey, fried eggs, or even Nutella for a sweet twist!

Bringing People Together

Pizza also has a special way of bringing people together. Whether it's a pizza party, a movie night, or a family dinner, sharing a pizza creates a fun and social atmosphere. Unlike complicated meals that take ages to prepare, pizza is easy to order or make, so you can spend more time enjoying good company. Many celebrations, sports events, and gatherings include pizza because it's simple, delicious, and always a crowd-pleaser.

In conclusion, pizza is the ultimate food because of its incredible flavours, customisable toppings, and its ability to bring people together. No matter the occasion, pizza is a guaranteed winner that satisfies every craving. So next time you're wondering what to eat, just remember—pizza is always the right answer!